10:00 AM – 10:45 AM WELCOME BACK

10:45 AM – 12:00 PM ESSENTIAL TRAITS OF CREATIVE AND COLLABORATIVE LEADERS

Laura Coleman, President, Bay de Noc Community College

Given the challenges and tremendous opportunities today's community colleges face, leading effectively just doesn't take courage, focus, and fortitude – it demands a healthy dose of creativity and collaboration with internal and external stakeholder groups. President Coleman will share her experience and learnings in nurturing collaboration and practicing creativity, and how you can tap into your creative intelligence in order to innovate and inspire those around you.

12:00 PM – 12:30 PM Lunch

---

12:30 PM – 1:45 PM ECONOMIC OPTIONS AND RESOURCE LEVERAGING FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Conway Jeffress, President, Schoolcraft College

Today's community colleges are facing a dynamic competitive environment that has resulted in the sector facing serious threats to their education and business models. Increased demands for accountability, learning outcomes and transparency, coupled with decreasing levels of federal, state, and local funding support is requiring a different response from community colleges. President Jeffress will share his thinking of resource leveraging and strategy for positioning Schoolcraft for long-term competitiveness and sustainability.
